Wow it's been awhile since i posted much on here. Been knee deep in moving in with my fionce in Southern Florida. As one could imagine when moving with young children into a home that already has two handicap residents that can be something of a challenge lol! We are finally getting things in order now and soon i will have a new job too. It will be good to get b ack on line and back in the middle of the goings on here :D

Happy New Years Everyone!
